“ It was a pleasure to have known Madam Chai Gaik Tan. I called her Aunty as she was the beloved mother of my dear friend, Suat Cheng. She made excellent Nyonya desserts without help and the need to make any references to written recipes and exact measurements of ingredients. Just by memory and used an old treasured ceramic rice bowl for estimation of some of the ingredients to use. I had the privileged of enjoying some of them. The must try was her durian cake and angku. The former being my favourite. She was a strong and kind lady, and I admired her most after not having seen her for several years was her ability to speak English well despite no formal education after migrated to Australia to be with her daughters. I last met her in September 2014 in Sydney and had the honour to make her a simple butter cake for her to enjoy. She will be dearly missed especially by her family and may she rest in peace.
